Letter from Our Pastor

An Extraordinary Parish for Ordinary People

Dear Friends in Christ,

Dr Peter Kwasniweski published an article recently on New Liturgical Movement entitled: “Why do we sing liturgical texts?” Sometimes people at Prince of Peace are surprised at how much we sing of the Mass, and sing at Mass. Here’s an except which explains why:

Acts of public worship are rendered more solemn, and their content more appealing and memorable, by the singing of clergy, cantors, choir, and congregation. Moreover, the contrast between singing (human expression at its highest) and silence (a deliberate “apophatic” withholding of discourse) is more striking than the contrast between speaking and not speaking. Speech is primarily discursive and instructional, aimed at a listener, while song, which more easily and naturally unites many singers into one body, is capable of being in addition the bearer of feelings and of meanings that go beyond what words can convey, greatly augmenting the penetrating power of the words themselves. We find this especially in the melismas of chant, the lengthy melodic elaborations on a single syllable that give voice to inner emotions and aspirations that words cannot fully express.

Ultimately, it comes down to this: we sing when we are at one, or wish to be at one, with our activity or the object of our activity. This is true when we are in love with another person. It is most of all true when we are in love with God. That is the origin of the incomparably great music of the Catholic tradition. St. Augustine says: “Only the lover sings.” We sing... and we whisper... and we fall silent.

When performed in an edifying manner, chant in and of itself “accords with the spirit of the liturgical action,” which cannot be assumed for any other piece of music. In other words, chant furnishes the very definition of what it means to “accord with the spirit of the liturgical action,” and other musical works must line up to be evaluated, as it were, by this supreme criterion — as Pope St Pius X had said in his motu proprio Tra le sollecitudini: “It is fully legitimate to lay down the following rule: the more closely a composition for church approaches in its movement, inspiration, and savor the Gregorian form, the more sacred and liturgical it becomes; and the more out of harmony it is with that supreme model, the less worthy it is of the temple.”

men - pray at the altar rail after mass

Something quite beautiful has happened after Latin Mass each Sunday for the past 2 years - the men of the parish join together to pray at the altar rail. 105 weeks with no one in charge, no committee and no meetings. Just authentic manhood praying the intention that "with the passage of time and a few gestures of good will, we can restore good order and the rule of right reason" in the Church. Carry on, gentlemen. And, may God bless you.
