Letter from our Pastor

An Extraordinary Parish for Ordinary People

Dear Parishioners,

The American civil holiday of Thanksgiving is this week. The Church in the United States has obtained permission for a formulary specific to the celebration of the Mass on this civil holiday. In the preface appointed to the Eucharistic Prayer for the day, we pray: You have entrusted to us the great gift of freedom, a gift that calls forth responsibility and commitment to the truth that all have a fundamental dignity before you. In Jesus, through his death and resurrection, we find our ultimate redemption, freedom from sin, and every blessing.

Now you may not be aware of this, but the above text in the 2011 English translation of the Roman Missal replaced a text that Catholics in America prayed on this day from 1970 to 2011:

Once you chose a people and, when you brought them out of bondage to freedom, they carried with them the promise that all men would be blessed and all men could be free. It happened to our fathers, who came to this land as if out of the desert into a place of promise and hope. It happens to us still, in our time, as you lead all men through your Church to the blessed vision of your peace.

The New Liturgical Movement blog had a prescient anonymous critique of this text:

Given that this Preface is used solely on Thanksgiving Day, I think I can safely suppose “our fathers” to have been the 17th-century Puritans. They were all Christians, even if their ultra-Protestantism placed them decidedly outside the Tradition of historic Christian orthodoxy (which is why they were persecuted in England and sailed to these shores). If I am correct, then I do not think I am out of line in questioning, with all ecumenical regard, whether a Catholic liturgical text should memorialize (however implicitly) a sect whose flight to America was necessitated by its zeal to purify the (Anglican) Church of the old leaven of Catholicism. But I have a weightier objection. While I acknowledge that, in one way or another, all generations of Christians have given expression to the mystery of redemption in analogies suggested by their culture and circumstances, I nonetheless think that paralleling the Pilgrim exodus with Israel’s Exodus encourages a false typology. Appreciative of Christianity’s Hebraic heritage and convinced that the Church was apostate, the Puritans saw themselves as the New Israel, the uncorrupted remnant of the faithful, freshly sprung from transatlantic captivity and striking out into the wilderness . . . Like biblical Israel, they viewed themselves as having entered into a special covenant with God to be His People . . . The Puritans’ self-identification as Israel Reconstituted gave rise to the notion, now long-embedded in our national psyche, that America is the darling of divine Providence, a (the?) chosen nation whose every aspiration is underwritten by the Almighty. Wrong. The Church, not America, is the New Israel, the fulfillment of the promise that Israel would be “a light to the nations” (Isa. 49:6), the center to which all nations are destined to converge in order to see the glory of God. While I love my country, I do not hesitate to add that America is one nation among many, no less loved by God, but no more. Texts facilitating a misunderstanding of the one People of God (for which there is no plural) do not belong in our liturgical books.

Thank God that theologically dubious text was dropped from our public worship for this great day!

Happenings & Needs

An Extraordinary Parish for Ordinary People

Our parish school's Catholic Identity Committee shares a few ideas for parents to learn about and celebrate the Feast of St Nicholas on 6 December! There are lots of fun traditions associated with this day that families can do to bring liturgical life into their domestic church.

The most popular way to celebrate St. Nicholas Day is to put your family member's shoes out for St. Nicholas to leave small treats and gifts in. Your children leave their shoes out, possibly by the fireplace or the door on the night before St. Nicholas Day. When the children wake, they discover that St. Nicholas has left a special surprise! Some example items could be:

- Chocolate gold coins (to represent the coins St. Nicholas left for 3 poor daughters)
- Candy canes, Life Savers, or other candies
- Small toys
- Ginger cookies
- Clothing or new shoes (to represent how St. Nicholas gave clothing to the poor)
- An ornament
- Clementines
- Religious items

Other ideas include:

- Crafts like this printable St Nick ornament (here) or St Nick Miter craft (here)
- blessing candy canes (here) - candy canes can remind us of St Nicholas' crozier
- make St Nicholas cookies (recipe)
- watch these videos (FORMED)
