From Our Pastor

An Extraordinary Parish for Ordinary People

Dear Parishioners,

Today we commemorate the Feast of the Holy Family, and so the feast normally celebrated on the 28th of December, Holy Innocents, drops out because it is a Sunday. But I think it is a great opportunity to see in the juxtaposition of these two feasts to remember the innocent ones, the children.

The Innocents of Herod's time were in danger because they stood in the way of totalitarian domination by an earthly king who had become paranoid because of his own sin. How many children today are also in danger for so many reasons? Although Catholic teaching traditionally provides criteria for just war, those criteria are drawn around military targets and the avoidance of killing innocent people. But there are wars all over the world, and children are the greatest victims. We cannot stand by in silence and overlook the poor treatment of children because of the machinations of politicians. Children today all over the world are still threatened by violence, injustice, discrimination and poverty. As people of faith, we have to work for justice to overcome those structures of sin against life, as well as avoid personal individual sins against hope.

In our own context, children also have existential threats that we cannot be naïve or ignorant about. One of the most dangerous places for a child to be, still, is the womb. Abortion has not gone away, and the psychological effects of abortion on mothers and fathers and other family members, and the unresolved grief that comes from the murder of the innocent, is warping our society. If you or someone you love has been affected by this tragedy, we offer a resource for your assistance: www.supportafterabortion.com. Check it out!

Children also have heightened threats from gender ideology, moral relativism, sexual, physical and emotional abuse, and predators online. Greenville is a hot spot for human trafficking, which means under very own noses, children are bonded into slavery right up and down I-85 every day. Parents are sometimes incredibly disconnected from the disastrous consequences of their children's early exposure to pornography, excessive screen time and what is really going on in their classrooms.

There are a lot of Herods nowadays, and sometimes they lurk in our very own families. Let us protect the innocence of childhood, and give children opportunities to thrive in communities of love and respect. We urge every parent of school aged children to call the school next week and arrange for a visit to the school and consider Catholic education for their children, to help them hide from Herod for a little while longer!

In Christ,

Fr. Christopher E. Smith

Peace in Progress Campaign Letter

An Extraordinary Parish for Ordinary People

Dear Friends in Christ,

I know that many of you may be asking yourselves, Why should I make a contribution to the Peace in Progress Campaign? Does it really affect me? That is an understandable question. I would simply ask you to consider an alternative perspective.

Over the years, numerous studies have shown that students educated in Catholic schools are far more likely to remain lifelong Catholics than those educated in the public school system. Some studies suggest that as many as 80% of individuals educated in Catholic schools remain active in their faith throughout their lives. This is why Father Smith often says that Prince of Peace Catholic School is the primary apostolate of our parish. An investment in the Peace in Progress Campaign is, therefore, an investment in the future of Prince of Peace Parish and in the vitality of the Catholic faith itself.

Pam and I have been members of Prince of Peace for 35 years. When we first joined, Mass was celebrated in what is now Crogan Hall. Over the years, we have witnessed tremendous growth—and I am grateful to say that this growth has been a blessing in every sense. Today, Prince of Peace is one of the most vibrant and dynamic parishes in the entire state of South Carolina.

The Upstate continues to experience significant growth, with thousands of people relocating here each year from the Northeast and Midwest. Many of these new residents are young Catholic families seeking a parish community and a Catholic education for their children. Prince of Peace Catholic School has been an award-winning school for many years, making it a natural choice for families searching for a new parish home.

While this growth is something to celebrate, it also brings challenges. Our current facilities are rapidly approaching capacity. The Peace in Progress Campaign is designed to begin expanding our ability to serve parish families with school-age children—both now and for generations to come.

Pam and I have enjoyed so many wonderful years at Prince of Peace, made possible by the generosity and foresight of those who came before us. Now it is our turn to step forward for the benefit of future generations. This campaign is our opportunity to demonstrate our commitment to our parish and its future.

If you have not already done so, we invite you to prayerfully consider making a contribution to the Peace in Progress Campaign. No gift is too small, and every gift helps ensure that Prince of Peace continues to thrive for years to come.

With gratitude and hope,

Brian Mackenzie
Finance Council Chairman
