From Our Pastor

Dear Parishioners,

I get lots of questions all the time about lots of things. But there is one question I would love to get asked, but no one ever seems to ever actually ask it of me: How can I prepare better for Mass and Holy Communion? We remember that all Catholics are bound to attend Holy Mass every Sunday and Holy Day of Obligation unless there is a legitimate excuse. But we are only required to go to Communion once a year, during the Easter season, even though the Church encourages frequent Communion. Since so many people go to Communion every time they go to Mass, there has been a decline in a more disciplined preparation for and thanksgiving after Holy Communion. Many people are no longer sure how to prepare for Mass and Holy Communion, or don't even know they should, especially when the Church leaves it up to us to figure out how that is supposed to work.

One of the best ways to prepare for Holy Mass is by buying a Missal for the form of the Mass that we ordinarily attend. The Ordinary Form in English has the same prayers all over the world with the exception of the lectionary excerpts for the readings from Scripture. In the United States we have the New American Bible translation of Scripture, which quite frankly, I think is one of the least attractive ones out there. The English Bishops' Conference has recently adopted the English Standard Version Catholic Edition. Catholic Truth Society has published a new Missal which has all that you need with that translation of the Scriptures and the normative English Mass prayers alongside much of the Latin typical edition of those same prayers.¹ Take the calendar in the bulletin, find out what Mass is being said, and pray over both the prayers and the readings ahead of time. Also, when you get to church (ideally at least a quarter of an hour early), recollect yourself in silence in the presence of the Blessed Sacrament, formulate your own intention for what you want to offer your prayer of the Mass for as well as the other things you want to pray for, and remember the formula: ACTS.

Adoration, Contrition, Thanksgiving and Supplication are all forms of prayer. All four are good ways to prepare for Mass, alongside meditation on various events in salvation history (the Rosary is a great way to do this if we actually meditate on the mystery being prayed and not just rush through vocal recited prayers), and contemplation: allowing the Spirit to pray in us with interior and exterior silence. Prayers before and after Mass in the Missal are great to incorporate into our prayers.

When Jesus healed 10 lepers, only 1 came back to thank him. Are you the 9 or the 1? Do you rush out of church on the heels of the celebrant right after Mass? Do you stay and loudly talk inside the church, bothering your neighbors who are trying to make a good thanksgiving? Do you say goodbye to the Lady of the House (the Blessed Mother) with a visit to her altar before leaving the House of the Master, the church building? Do you light a candle (and pay for it, don't be cheap and steal candles, folks!). We should spend ideally at least a quarter of an hour after Mass in thanksgiving.

One of the few places I have ever been in my life where I actually saw this happen was at Christendom College, where I did my undergraduate studies. On Sunday after Mass, it was not unusual for not a soul to leave the pew after the Recessional, and it was sometimes an hour after Mass before the church was empty of human souls again!

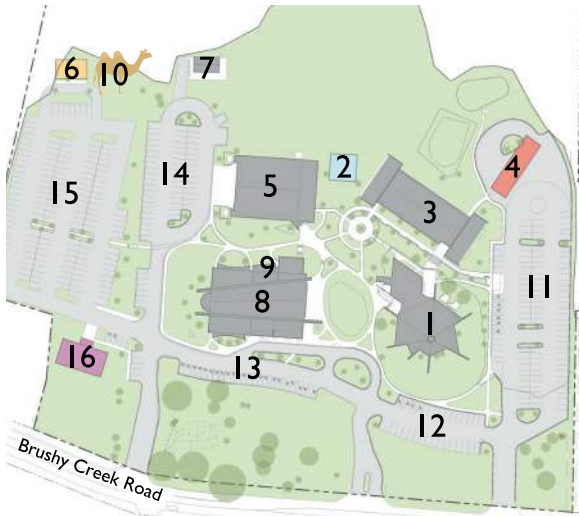

Canon Christopher Smith
