From Our Pastor

Dear Parishioners,

The Universal Church celebrates All Saints and All Souls, and the Extraordinary Form even has a Feast of the Holy Relics on 5 November. What you may not know is that individual religious orders often had feasts for All Saints, All Souls and Relics of the order, and those dates were all over November. Relics are the kind of thing which are easily misunderstood outside of the Catholic Church. And modern sensibilities often recoil at the idea of literally dismembering the bodies of the saints and distributing them to various churches for the veneration of the faithful. It's even more interesting when the Church also forbids ordinary people doing that to their loved ones. This year, on the 900th anniversary of the translation of the relics of St Agatha from Constantinople to Catania, a video went viral of the Archbishop taking her skull out of a reliquary, kissing it and blessing the faithful with it. If I had a dollar for every comment on social media railing against Catholics for idolatry on that one, we could pay off the capital campaign tomorrow.

At the risk of acting like I am part of the Keep Catholicism Weird coalition, I have to say, I think there is actually something profoundly Christian about our enthusiasm for relics. Imagine you had a sister who was brutally murdered for preserving her chastity. Would you not spontaneously kiss her head in a coffin at the funeral? Well, is that spontaneous action not what the Catholics of Catania did to their sister Saint Agatha, who are still moved by her story even though she died in AD 251? It's no accident that Protestant cultures profoundly shaped by hatred of relics are at one and the same time allergic to touch, and also wickedly puritanical. Catholic cultures are known for their exuberance and warmth, where people know how to have safe touch but aren't afraid to kiss and hug and be with each other. Now, my own cultural background is very English, and we don't do that sort of thing in my family, but I appreciate the Catholic instinct to love all up on Saint Agatha's relics because she's our sister too.

Iconoclasts who get very nervous about this sort of thing have always been with us. The Calvinist revolutionaries who destroyed statues and rood screens in northern Europe are very much with us today. A Baptist pastor last month got a little boy to smash a statue of Our Lady of Grace on livestream as an object lesson against what he falsely accused as idolatry. But the Church already countered these objections in the Second Council of Nicaea in 787. Saint John Damascene's defense of images in Christian worship remains today the classic apologetic for how the Incarnation means that images mean something. He even preached of relics:

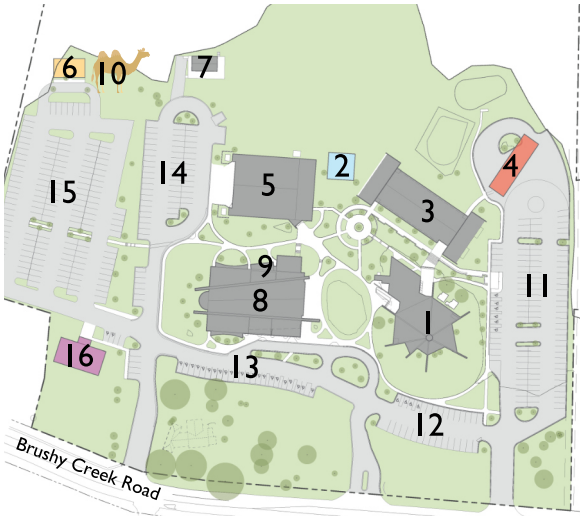

Christ the Lord granted us the relics of the Saints as fonts of salvation, from which very many benefits come to us. ... In the (old) law, whosoever touched a dead person was deemed unclean, but these (i.e. the Saints) are not to be reckoned among the dead. For from that time when He who is life itself, and the Author of life, was reckoned among the dead, we do not call them dead who have fallen asleep in Him with the hope and faith of the resurrection. Demons are expelled, illnesses driven away, the sick are healed, the blind regain sight, the leprous are cleansed, temptations and sorrows are scattered, and every best gift descendeth through them from the Father of lights (James 1, 17), unto those who ask with unwavering faith.

We are iconodules. Statues and icons and relics are not objects of worship, but they raise the mind to God. We have no need to fear that God is mocked by them, for He chose to give us His image in Jesus Himself!

Canon Christopher Smith

On the Cover: Throughout November, the Board of Remembrance displays photographs of deceased loved ones, placed there by parishioners in loving memory. As we pray for the faithful departed, these photographs remind us of the many lives and relationships entrusted to God's mercy. Parishioners are welcome to add photographs throughout the month.

Balance Sheet Comments

General Savings	Peace in Progress Capital Campaign transfer to DofC Savings account (+$225.0K); YTD interest earned (+$9.8K).
Accounts Receivable	Catholic Mutual Insurance lightning strike claim (-$10.1K); POPCS for NewWave Solutions work paid by parish (+$0.7K).
Prepaid Expense	NewWave Solutions (IT) prepaid expense.
Land, Buildings & Equipment	No capital spending since FY26 year-end.
Total Liabilities	Accounts Payable change since Year-End FY26 (-$0.3K); Vacation Payout (-$2.6K); Peace in Progress Building Campaign, net (+$203.5K); Golf Event (+$21.3K); Anatolian Fund (+$2.8K); All Other (-$1.4K).
Total Equity	YTD net deficit.

1st Quarter FY27 Financial Statements Note

The Year-to-Date (Y-T-D) Offertory of $430.4K is unfavorable to Budget by $47.2K, and below the previous year by $46.8K. Our Total Parish Expenses continue to be managed and show that we are slightly unfavorable to Budget by $9.8K or 1.9% at the bottom-line expense. The net result is showing a $49.9K Y-T-D deficit and a Y-T-D unfavorable variance to Budget of $51.6K for the 1st Quarter of our fiscal year. The balance sheet reflects a reduction in cash since the end of the year by about $56K which closely follows our bottom-line deficit variance to Budget. Our working capital requirements will hopefully not require us to withdraw funds from our savings during this fiscal year assuming Offertory performance improves. We have no funds available for any capital projects this year due to essentially a breakeven Budget. Currently, we believe we'll achieve the Full Year Budget assuming that we get Offertory back to budgeted levels. As always, we are grateful and thank you sincerely for your continued financial contributions without which we could not achieve the things you help provide for the parish and the school.
